

Booking your newborn Session

My Passion is Storytelling

So let's capture your story!

The first step in booking your newborn session is deciding when to schedule . The best time to capture these precious moments are within the first 10-14 days from birth. This allows the baby to still be sleepy and I'm able to capture those tiny toes and sweet poses everyone desires!

Although I do photograph babies of all ages and newborn sessions are done up to 2 months of age.

I recommend booking your session prior to delivery this way your session is secure. I'm very flexible, so dates can be changed.

Prior to your session at my in home studio, we will have a few phone conversations just to go over your vision and expectations of the session, along with just a few tips in preparing before you arrive.

And through out your final weeks ,having been a labor and delivery nurse for 10 years I know how exciting and nervous you can be, so I'm always touching base to see how you're doing.

My in home studio is a very warm atmosphere, I like you to feel like its an extension of your home, I provide all the props, wraps, outfits you name it, I have it! If I do not already have it I try my best to have it for you when you arrive!!

In addition to my in home studio, I do travel within a 2 hour radius for in home lifestyle and just baby sessions.

So... Let's do this!

Im excited to meet you and your family and make memories to last a lifetime!

For these sessions, please reach out and we can schedule a call and discuss all the amazing details !
